
Contact Information	Economic Research Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco 101 Market Street San Francisco, CA 94105 Phone: 224-308-9835	Personal email: josecarreno.econ@gmail.com Work email: jose.carreno-garcia@sf.frb.org Website: www.josecarreno.org Citizenship: Spanish
Academic Positions	Visiting Fellow, Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco Assistant Professor, University of Oregon	2020-2021 2021-present
Research Fields	Macroeconomics, Monetary Economics, Business Cycles, Firm Dynamics, Household Consumption
Education	Ph.D., Economics, Northwestern University Dissertation: Essays on Empirical Macroeconomics Committee: Martin S. Eichenbaum (Chair), Matthias Doepke, Guido Lorenzoni M.A., Economics, Northwestern University M.Phil., Economics and Finance, CEMFI B.A., Economics, University of Castilla-La Mancha (UCLM)	2020 2016 2014 2012
Working Papers	"Housing Booms and the U.S. Productivity Puzzle" "Market Concentration and the Transmission of Monetary Policy"
Fellowships & Awards	Northwestern University Dissertation Year Fellowship Northwestern University Graduate Fellowship Distinguished Teaching Assistant Award Bank of Spain Fellowship for Graduate Studies "la Caixa" Fellowship for Graduate Studies Extraordinary Prize (highest honors) in Economics, UCLM	2019-2020 2018-2019 2016-2017 and 2017-2018 2014-2016 2012-2014 2012
Seminars and Conference Presentations	2021: Philadelphia Workshop on Macroeconomics and Economic Policy (scheduled) 2020: Bank of Spain, Bank of Portugal, Catolica-Lisbon School of Business and Economics, Bank of Canada, Federal Reserve Board, University of Washington, University of Oregon, Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco, Florida State University
Refereeing	JEEA
Other Activities	U.S. Census Bureau Special Sworn Status Researcher, since 2019
Languages	English (fluent), Spanish (native)	